Lesson 4 FAQs

Q: Are interfaces and abstract classes widely used?

A: Yes, they are used very often. If you look at the Java API, every class name in the lower-left pane whose name is in italics is an interface. Every class whose name starts with Abstract is an abstract class. Many (probably most) large Java projects use one or both of these Java structures.